

Matthew Wills

Matthew Wills is a Senior Solicitor in the UK Immigration team at Laura Devine Solicitors in London and has practiced in UK immigration law since 2010. He has experience in dealing with both personal and business immigration matters. Matthew assists with applications under the UK's Points Based System and provides support for businesses in a variety of sectors on immigration solutions relating to the recruitment of individuals, transfer of overseas employees and sponsorship compliance obligations.

Matthew deals with a range of private client and personal immigration matters, including family immigration, EEA applications and naturalisation/settlement applications. He assists with more complex matters including refusals, applications from overstayers and has experience with appeals to the First Tier Tribunal on applications for discretionary leave to remain in the UK made under Article 8 ECHR.