Introduction

Animal Law is International Law – Criminal, Environmental, Food, Health, and more. The laws regulating the food we eat, the medicine we take, the water we drink, and even the air we breathe all depend on biodiversity – the variety of life on the planet. Today, more than ever, animal law will shape our future.

This seminar, the first UIA International Animal Law Commission Seminar, is about the business of animal law and its impact on agriculture, economics, health, science, and technology – and how to apply a business model to law and policy initiatives that result in measurable progress. It is about thinking and working globally, collectively, and compassionately. Global opinion, exemplified in the United Nations Resolution on the animal welfare-environment-sustainable development nexus, the One Health approach, and the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reflects the increasing realization that human health and well-being are intrinsically connected to the health and well-being of the planet's flora and fauna. Our current food production methods, destruction of biodiversity, and consumption of natural resources are unsustainable. Many of the world's most critical issues – protecting human rights, eradicating poverty, maintaining a healthy environment, and feeding the world – are determined by our use and treatment of animals. Lawyers who understand the importance of this relationship and apply it to their clients' businesses will lead the legal profession into the future.

This seminar aims to bring international lawyers from every discipline together to chart a common path forward for international animal law. We have assembled a group of legal experts from North, South, East, and West to share their knowledge and learn from others.

Artificial Intelligence, Blockchain technology, climate change, ESG, food safety, organized crime, and scientific advances are some of the topics that will be discussed in this important seminar.

This conference is for every lawyer in every practice, and we invite you to join us. We look forward to seeing you in New York in July 2024!

09:15 – 10:30 ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE FOR GOOD: HELPING ANIMALS AND THEIR LAWYERS

The focus of Artificial Intelligence (AI) has been on the human potential for good and disaster, but animal advocates and technology experts have been using AI to explore new depths of our understanding of animals and collaborating on ways to use AI for good. Also, animal lawyers have new tools through AI to support their courtroom and advocacy efforts. This session presents current topics in AI, the use of technology to help animals, and the role lawyers may play in channeling these developments for good.

10:45 – 12:00 THE ELEPHANT IN THE ROOM IS A COW: AGRICULTURE'S IMPACT ON THE PLANET

More than 15 years ago, in 2006, the UN Food and Agriculture Organization published Livestock's Long Shadow to raise awareness of the “very substantial contribution of animal agriculture to climate change and air pollution, to land, soil and water degradation and reduction of biodiversity.” Today the environment is in greater crisis, and the agriculture business plays a significant role, although often minimized or omitted from the discussion. This panel highlights the realities of agriculture, food safety, and security, and the governments, policies, and litigation driving the industry.

12:00 – 13:00 CAN INTERNATIONAL LAW AND COLLABORATION SAVE THE WILD?

Saving the wild – protecting endangered species, preserving biodiversity, and safeguarding economies and cultures dependent on those species – is a global problem, but developing global solutions has been challenging. This session presents international perspectives on wildlife trafficking and conservation. It will explore the challenges and impacts of wildlife trafficking, the potential efficacy and limits of international treaties to combat it, and the role of individual state laws and their impact on demand for trafficked wildlife. This panel discusses the cultural, criminal, financial, and human consequences of the wildlife trade and the legal efforts to stop it.

14:00 – 14:30 WELLNESS IN THE 21ST CENTURY

▪ John FORELLI, Certified yoga instructor and meditation guide, Santa Fe, NM, USA

14:30 – 15:30 THE ROLE OF ANIMALS IN COURT AND LIFE

Companion animals now play a key role in human health and wellbeing. That role has now found its way into the law and courtroom. Dogs now appear in court as comfort animals. Our human devotion to animals has added concern for the animal in family law custody cases. Judges are now being asked to take a “best interest” approach to what, heretofore, had been considered personal property. In this session our panelists present a judge with “real-life” situations created by these two new legal dynamics.

MODERATOR: ▪ Janice F. MULLIGAN, Past President of UIA Health Law Commission, Mulligan, Banham & Findley, San Diego, CA, USA

09:15 – 10:15 ANIMALS IN SCIENCE

When science and animals become entangled, so do law and ethics. From China's creation of a chimera to the use of pig organs for human transplants, this session will likely present more questions than answers. The panelists will discuss animals used in scientific research, animal patents, the economics of animals in pharmaceuticals, and the myriad law and policy issues. The panelists will consider today's advances and what the future may hold.

MODERATOR: ▪ Barbara J. GISLASON, UIA Chief Editor – Juriste International, Law Office of Barbara J. Gislason, Fridley, MN, USA

10:15 – 11:15 ANIMAL RIGHTS/HUMAN RIGHTS

Do animals have rights? Do they have a right not to suffer for human purposes? It is a fitting question that this seminar covers. Animal abuse does not occur in isolation. Whether institutional, negligent, or deliberate, animal cruelty is a human problem in which humans are also victims. This session brings together international lawyers in animal, criminal, and human rights law to discuss the complex legal, ethical, and social issues involved in cruelty.

MODERATOR: ▪ Rebecca CRISTER, Postdoctoral Fellow, Johns Hopkins School of Public Health, Baltimore, MD, USA
